ADOWA, Ethiopia, Oct. 21.—
Moving in great irregular waves towards a rendezvous high in the canyons of the Tembien mountains south of here are two great masses of Ethiopian warriors, totaling from 150,000 to 200,000, making ready for the first major Ethiopian counteroffensive of the war.

Bombing airplanes reconnoitering daily over the wild territory in the triangle formed by Aksum, Adigrat and Makale, brought this word back to the thousands of young Italians straining on the 50 mile, front here, eager for the zero hour that they expect is imminent.

Ras Seyum, with a force the fliers estimate at from 50,000 to 100-000, is marching in the direction of Aksum, and Ras Kassa, said to have "twice as many men" as Seyum, is leading his warriors up from the south.

Makale Italian Objective Makale is also believed to be the next objective of the Italians. Military tentacles are already being stretched out southward through the mountain ravines below Adigrat, which is on the Italian left flank and due north of Makale.

Italian chief of staff, has arrived at the front and will confer with

of the armies in the field, but the

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON,
Oct. 21.—The cruiser Houston, with President Roosevelt aboard, raced northward today to avoid the path of a hurricane reported off Cuba and Haiti.

A scheduled fishing excursion
this morning off Crooked Island was abandoned for fear the tropical disturbance might catch up with the presidential cruise.

There were heavy squalls yesterday, believed to have been caused by the hurricane.

The Houston received weather re-northeast. The storm was believed to be well in the rear of the Houston, but officials were taking no chances and the stop for fishing was called off.

New Castle's Character Chest campaign for $25,000, the fund sought to maintain the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M.
C. A. and the Boy Scouts of America of campaign workers at a luncheon in the Green room of the Y. W. C.

A. at noon today.

The one-week drive, scheduled to end with a dinner at the Y. W. C. A. on Friday night, opened in an atmosphere of optimism and confidence that provided every indication of a successful money-raising canvass for the city's three leading character-building institutions.

While it lasted but a little over 45 minutes, the inaugural luncheon at noon, intended primarily as the first card distribution rally, was marked with a spirited interest on the part of every campaigner from General Chairman Dr. J. J. McIlvaine to the last man chosen for one of the teams.

Team workers sat with their captains and majors. Men and women representing for the most part the

Arthur Henderson Peace Advocate Is Dead In London

Noted British Leader Dies
Without Knowing Of Outbreak In Ethiopia

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 21.—Arthur Henderson, who gave his health to the cause of peace and strongly opposed league of nations sanctions against Italy, lay dead today without ever having learned that hostilities had broken out in Ethiopia, and the league was technically at war with Italy.

As the 72-year-old labor leader, president of the disarmament conference, and Nobel peace prize winner lay on his death bed, newspapers were kept from him for six weeks.
In his last talk with his family,
he expressed the hope that work for peace would go on, and his wife and daughter and two sons—a third son was killed in the Somme—kept the Ethiopian war a secret from him.

Henderson died at a London Nursing home last night of heart trouble following an operation. Three years of work at Geneva, his friends said, broke his health.

Arthur Mometer

There's peace and rest in an open fire, visions and pictures and dreams, and there's cheer and hope in the rosy flame and happiness in its beams. And I like to sit by the open fire poking the burning logs, and watch the embers cascading down, over the iron dogs. No cares are there in the open fire, no worries, just calm and peace, and drowsiness creeps over me much like a delicate lacy fleece. Just to sit and dream by an open fire is happiness unalloyed, with a pipe and book and a friend or two, fills up an empty void. The cares of the world are forgotten then, and the world seems far far away, as we sit and dream by the burning logs, and suddenly—LOWE today.

MANY REFUGEES IN HELENA

Many Homeless Result Of Quake

Temporary Shelter Is Provided In Tents North Of City

HEAVY DAMAGE CAUSED IN CITY

(International News Service)
HELENA, Mont., Oct. 21.—The cold discomfort of Montana winter made its presence felt among hundreds of homeless refugees of this quake-torn city today.

Temperatures that dipped to freezing made the night uncomfortable for the 400 Helena residents who found temporary shelter in Camp Conkey, the national guard encampment north of the city, and the hundreds of others who pitched their tents on vacant lots or in open country rather than return to homes which they feared might collapse.

Nearly 300 Shocks
According to tremors Sunday brought the total shocks to 285 by midnight. The worst one occurred Friday night when two persons were killed and damage of between one and three million dollars inflicted.

Chief of Police Roger Smith said that local authorities had the situation well in hand and that there would be no necessity of martial law. In addition to Helena police and firemen, 10 members of the State highway patrol and 35 national guardsmen are on duty in the city, patrolling the business section and the danger zones.

Hundreds of automobiles filled with curious sightseers from nearby cities streamed into Helena all day Sunday to view results of the quake.

A great deal of additional damage is expected when householders comply with requests of authorities to dislodge all loosened structures.

The removal of broken masonry already has revealed undiscovered weaknesses in many buildings, and a total of 200 homes have been condemned for occupancy.

RE-PLASTER WALLS AT FIRE STATION

Central firemen were spending most of today on the outside looking in, but it was such a nice day they didn't mind.

The walls and ceiling are being re-plastered, and the apparatus was moved to the outside, while the job was being done.

Care Of Free Patients Brings Deficits In Hospital Service

This is the ninth of a series of articles by the Board of Directors of Jameson Memorial Hospital. The tenth article will appear in these columns tomorrow.

In our reports on operations of Jameson Memorial Hospital we have placed warranted emphasis on the fact that the cost of hospital care of a sick person is governed by the disorder he suffers—not by the state of health of his pocketbook. We have mentioned the fact that because all available hospital procedures and practices are free the charity patient not infrequently receives more than he needs—a pardonable error, we feel. These facts have been stressed because they are wholesome truths and because they should aid in correction of the common mistaken impression that the cost of hospital care of a free patient is far less than cost of care of a paying patient.

	1932	1933	1934	6 Mo. 1935	42 Mo.
Total Days Free Care Exclusive of Babies	8,532	9,766	10,810	7,035	36,143
COST OF FREE CARE	$39,410	$41,168	$48,000	$29,033	$157,611
Paid by State Toward Free Care	$14,000	$14,000	$14,000	$ 7,000	$ 49,000
Paid by Pay Patients Toward Free Care	$ 8,554	$ 9,144	$ 6,493	$ 7,468	$ 31,659
Paid by County Toward Free Care	$ 6,175	$ 8,799	$ 4,175	$ 2,775	$ 21,924
Av. Cost per Patient Day for Free Care	$4.62	$4.23	$4.44	$4.13	$4.37
Av. Per Free Care Day Paid by State	$1.64	$1.44	$1.30	$1.00	$1.36
Av. Per Free Care Day Paid by Pay Patients	$1.01	$.94	$.60	$1.06	$.88
Av. Per Free Care Day Paid by County	$.72	$.90	$.39	$.39	$.61
Av. Per Free Care Day for Philanthropy	$1.25	$.95	$2.15	$1.68	$1.52

The argument works both ways, however, and the paying patient might assume his right to complain that his care costs no more than that of the free ward patient and hence his per diem rate should be no higher than per diem average cost. Such is not only the practical fact, but over 50% of the pay-patient beds in Jameson Memorial Hospital are priced to yield less than per diem average cost. Clearly, therefore, a certain smaller percentage of our citizens who pay hospital bills for accommodations and care they select are paying full cost of their own care; paying the unpaid balance of cost of care of their fellow pay-patients and are paying a handsome contribution toward care of charity patients as well.

It was disclosed in Saturday's article that pay-patients use 56% of our hospital's total service and pay 65% of total cost of hospital operation. In other words, when we consider our pay-patient citizens in their entirety, their relation to deficit is to reduce it in spite of the fact that many of our good citizens of modest means pay less than cost. Deficit arises entirely from care of free patients who receive 44% of our hospital service.

The chart below tells who pays the cost of hospital care of our sick poor.

Only one of our citizens out of each 15 needs hospital care in any one year. Less than every other one of our citizens receives free care. For every one of us who receives free care there are nearly 30 of us presumably well.

The healthy most of us can care for the rest of us.

With the letter-reading over, Chairman Fisher formally introduced Toastmaster Pearson.

One by one the guest table men were called upon to speak and then others in the audience. One by one they said complimentary, kind things of the man in whose honor they had gathered.

First to speak was E. A. Fenton, supervising agent of the Erie & Ashtabula division and a veteran with Mr. Perry in division service. The toastmaster presented him as the "Dean of the E. & A."

Next to speak was C. F. McBride, Sharon, traffic manager for the Sharon Steel Hoop company, and following him came C. W. Van Nort, former E. & A. superintendent and now superintendent of freight transportation in the central region; W. R. Triem, superintendent of the Conemaugh division; Quincy A. Hannon of this city, who had talked with her brother from the hospital, early Sunday morning. They left immediately by automobile for La Grange. They arrived at the hospital in the afternoon and were at their son's bedside when he passed away.

The four students, it is said, remained at South Bend after the game, to participate in the school festivities, and didn't leave for Angola until late in the evening.

The body is being sent to New Castle by rail, and the Hunters are driving through. They are expected to arrive here late this afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed. Further announcement will be made, pending the arrival of the body.

Attended Westminster Hunter and Hannon left on September 28, for Tri-State to resume their studies, this being the second year for the Hunter boy, which would have completed his required course.

The deceased was born May 29, 1914, at Minneapolis, Minnesota. He was graduated from New Castle high school and attended Westminster college for a year, before transferring to Tri-State. He had a host of friends, and was well and favorably known in New Castle and vicinity.

He was loved by all who knew him, and was the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gayley Glenn of Slippery Rock, pioneer residents who were known throughout Lawrence and Butler counties.

De Vilmorin told International News Service that he had taken 39 flying hours from Paris to Addis Ababa, but he stayed a couple of months in Egypt, where he flew to the Libyan border.

He said he found Egypt swarming with British troops.

In order to avoid Italian war planes, De Vilmorin went to Djibouti, and when he took off from there, climbed to 11,000 feet. Maintaining this level, he flew straight to Addis Ababa.

He learned that an Italian Caproni bomber with the commander of the Italian air forces at Assab, Eritrea, flew over Assab, but so high that few of the population noticed the Italian plane.

5 P.M. is a test of how you FEEL

"How do I feel . . . Swell!—why do you ask?"

It is all so simple, too! That tired, run-down, exhausted feeling quite often is due to lack of a sufficiency of those precious red-blood-cells. Just build up these oxygen-carrying cells and the whole body takes on new life. . . food is really turned into energy and strength. . . you can't help but feel and look better. S.S.S. Tonic restores deficient red-blood-cells. . . it also improves the appetite and digestion. It has been the nation's standby for over 100 years. . . and unless your case is exceptional it should help you, too.

Insist on S.S.S. Tonic in the blood-red capsule, wrapped package. The big 20-oz. size is sufficient for two weeks' treatment. . . it's more economical.

FAITH SOME THOUGHTS.

Why spend thousands of dollars inspecting perfectly sober cars and then put a liquor store in every hamlet and cross roads to make intoxicating drivers.

According to reports it looks as though United States had better begin to sell liberty bonds in order that we may be able to finance another war for our neighbors across the pond.

Where were the church members last night? Not where they should have been.

WE DO NOT LEND OR RENT OUR CHAIRS. THEY ARE FOR FUNERAL WORK ONLY. HAVE YOU THE UTMOST FAITH IN YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR?

WHY $9 for Optical Service?

Persons sometimes think that for $5 or $6 they can obtain satisfactory optical service. Nevertheless, facts show that such a price does not permit the use of best materials or maximum accuracy. The odds, therefore, are against such attention being effective. Nine dollars, on the other hand, permits use of quality material and modern, accuracy-insuring equipment. Depend on Dr. Rosenthal for guaranteed optometric care.

GROTH-BLAHA EVENT AT SHAKER HEIGHTS

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, October 19, when Miss Florence H. Groth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Groth of Shaker Heights, O., became the bride of Fred J. Blaha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha of Winter avenue, New Castle.

The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's parents on Ingleside road, Shaker Heights. The vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of palms and ferns, artistically arranged in the sun room, through which shone the glow of candles in tall branching candelabra. The Rev. A. E. Cole of Detroit, Mich., a close friend of the Groth family, officiated.

To the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March played on the violin by Gordon Groth, brother of the bride, the bride proceeded to the altar, escorted by her father, Charles P. Groth, who gave her in marriage. She wore a traditional white satin gown of princess lines, with full length fitted sleeves, Queen Anne collar, and buttoned down the back to the waist line with tiny buttons. The skirt was made of tulle and her veil of tulle, an heirloom, fell in graceful lines from her head dress of orange blossoms, which too, had a long train. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias, Sweetheart roses and sprays of valley-ies. Little Dorothy Staub of Westfield, N. J., a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was daintily attired in a dress of delicate white lace, and carried a basket of tiny pink rosebuds and mums.

Miss Helen Blaha of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Blaha, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of royal blue velvet, with high neckline and long tight sleeves, with slight train. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and snapdragons of the same hue, falling in sprays from the bouquet. She wore a coronet braid about her head. Charles Mulford of Cleveland, O., a former business associate of the groom, served as best man. Mrs. Charles P. Groth, the bride's mother, wore a gown of blue velvet, with matching accessories. Mrs. Julius Blaha was attired in a late creation of velvet in the new Dahlia shade. Both mothers of the young couple had shoulder bouquets of orchids.

The Groth residence was attractive and decorated with clusters of white asters and pink roses, making a striking setting for the impressive event. The aisle leading to the altar was indicated with white corded ropes.

Immediately following the ceremony, a congratulatory period was held, when the assemblage of relatives and friends filed past the receiving line. A dinner and reception was later given in the Shaker Heights Country club for the bride and wedding guests, with 100 guests being laid for 29. The main table was elaborately appointed in the nuptial motif, combined with pink candles and centerpieces of white roses arranged on a background of green fern.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Blaha are well known in this city, having graduated from Westminister college, with the class of 1932. The bride was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta Social Sorority, the Delta Naba honorary fraternity and was May Queen during her junior year. Mr. Blaha was a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity and of the Sigma Chi fraternity, besides being prominent in campus activities. He received his master's degree from Harvard University Business school in June, 1934, and is now affiliated with Simmons' Manufacturing company in Cleveland, O., where they will reside.

Those in attendance at the wedding from this vicinity included Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha and daughter Helen, Dr. Samuel Warner of New Castle, Mrs. Robert X. Graham, Attorney, Mr. Robert Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Campbell, Mrs. Agnes Keefner and Frederick J. Zordt of Pittsburgh.

Over 63 Million Vick Aids Used Yearly for Better Control of Colds.

Children's Colds Should Have This Safe Treatment. Young Mothers Benefit from Two Generations' Proof of This External Treatment For Fighting Colds. IT AVOIDS CONSTANT "DOSING". There's nothing like a child's cold to upset a young mother. And mothers of two generations, anxious to help end colds, have depended on Vicks VapoRub. It is effective—external—and safe. It avoids the risks of constant "dosing," so often upsetting to children's delicate digestions. Just rubbed on throat and chest at bedtime, VapoRub acts two ways at once: 1. By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster. 2. By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, released by body heat and breathed in direct to inflamed air-passages. Continuing through the night, this combined vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm—soothes irritated membranes—eases difficult breathing—helps break congestion. A Practical Guide for Mothers. Each year, more and more families are being helped to fewer colds and shorter colds by Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. Vicks Plan has been clinically tested by practicing physicians, and further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full details of the Plan in each package of Vicks VapoRub.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has said that he intends to keep out of European complications. He will not let Europe complicate our foreign business, making it possible for American concerns to operate merely to oblige European competitors. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Suppose you live in a dictator country—Would you know what actually is going on in the world?

Here are a very few of many "directives" issued to German newspapers by Dr. Goebbels, head of the German ministry of public enlightenment and propaganda:

"The press must not report the presence of copper in Middle Sillesia and its exploitation."

"Only official reports on executions may be published. It is pointed out that the name of the Fuhrer and Chancellor may not be mentioned in connection with such reports."

"Reports of deliveries of goods (sales of ships, medicaments) to Italy or Abyssinia by German firms must not be published."

"On the occasion of the sixtieth birthday of Herr von Krupp and Bohlen-Halbach (munitions-industrialist) the press is to comment favorably on the man, his work, and his firm."

"The brief visit of the German ambassador in Vienna, Her von Papen, to the German capital must not be mentioned."

"The report of the death of the Fuhrer's uncle must not be circulated."

"The telegram of the Oecumenical Council on the Italo-Abyssinian conflict must not be published."

STOPPING RADIO When the British refused to permit the broadcasting to America of a talk by Baron Aloisi, Italian delegate to the League of Nations council, it was not the first cutting of a radio transmission to America. That now has been disclosed.

A few days previously, F. W. Rickett, oil promoter, who claims a concession in Ethiopia, found that his scheduled talk was forbidden.

The British government not only controls the radio communications of the British Isles, but wherever Britain has possessions—and in Ethiopia—only a power radio station could surmount the British radio blockade.

WHEAT IMPORTER Very quietly it is becoming known that the United States, once the greatest wheat exporting nation, will be importing wheat next year.

The wheat farmer thus will be in an enviable position. "The American carry-over will have disappeared."

Without government control and nature interceding (as in the past two years) it is questionable whether the price can be maintained, for the higher the price the more will be the temptation to enlarge plantings.

And the new Canadian government may dispose of its carry-over. Urban dwellers probably will see a rise in bread prices.

HOUSING PLAN COLLAPSE Little has been said of the junking, by President Roosevelt, of what many persons believed to be the most admirable plan the New Deal had formulated—low cost housing.

The president deprived the Real Estate Administration of funds in order to build up the funds for direct work relief.

The original plans of constructing 20 model low-rental communities on the outskirts of large cities was reduced to five, and really owners in one of those cities—Baltimore—are waging a fierce attack on even one of the five.

European nations—notably England, Germany, Italy, the Soviet—have made great strides in model housing construction.

IMPRISONING CHILDREN Nations of the world are urged not to imprison children by a League of Nations committee which has been making a study of the subject.

"All countries that have hitherto tolerated the imprisonment of children in any form whatsoever should aim at abolishing this system, replacing it in the case of delinquent minors by suitable measures of a purely educative character," says the resolution.

Remarks the Manchester (England) Guardian:

"In some countries (Sweden and Denmark, for example) juvenile offenses are regarded as the products of inadequate education or bad environment, and instead of punishment educational or psychological treatment is accorded them. Can not all civilized nations follow this example and accept the principle that youthful offenders must be entirely excluded from the punishment imposed upon the adult criminal classes?"

THE MODERN DANCE At dancing I have always had my faults.

I was never very light of heel and toe.

I was noted as a "hopper" in the waltz.

In the two-step I was just too fast or slow.

With a straight left arm I used to whirl 'em round;

As a "pumper" by the ladies I was known.

But I cannot catch the rhythm in the sound.

Of the doghouse fiddle, horn and saxophone.

Just what dance they're playing now I never know.

At this modern stuff I struggle with in vain.

Now that "hop-a-little-waltzing" doesn't go.

As the last of all "pumpers" I remain.

I have never learned to snuggle cheek to cheek.

All this strange, fantastic music has me floored.

For you cannot swing your partners till they shriek.

To the curious, seedy rattling of a gourd.

I was told when I was sent to dancing school

That the art once learned would last me all my life;

But today within the ballroom I'm a fool.

And I get that information from my wife.

I've completely lost the art of dancing now.

I just flounder, however hard I try.

I've no ear for slapped bull fiddles, anyhow.

So I'm doomed to be a "pumper" till I die.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HISTORY IS REPETITION The present situation in Europe reminds me of an address which I heard the late Chauncey Depew give before a body of Yale men, at a dinner at Sherry's, New York, nearly fifty years ago.

I was then undergraduate at New Haven, and as we Yale men looked upon Chauncey Depew as the last word of worthwhile accomplishment of Yale men and as we thought a great deal of him, a great many of us went down to New York to the particular dinner.

In this address, as we Yale men looked upon Chauncey Depew as the last word of worthwhile accomplishment of Yale men and as we thought a great deal of him, a great many of us went down to New York to the particular dinner.

Depew's subject was "The Men of the Mountain and the Men of the Plain." He dwelt upon the records of history which show that the men of the plain were great herdsmen.

They also raised large and bountiful crops of grain; they waxed fat and rich; they never thought of preparing themselves against the depredations of the men of the Mountain. They made no preparations for war and only thought of how rich they were and how much richer they would be tomorrow.

On the contrary, the Men of the Mountain, they were not rich.

EPOCHAL COURT SESSION

IN moving to consider the constitutionality of the AAA and the TVA, the United States supreme court has given new evidence of a determination to subject all major aspects of the New Deal to the most exacting tests of legality. Decisions arrived at during the present session of the nation's highest tribunal, therefore, are certain to have a far-reaching effect upon the present and further policies of the Roosevelt administration as well as upon electoral conditions surrounding the presidential contest of 1936.

It is generally conceded that the strength of the Roosevelt regime in the Middle West is due primarily to the financial handouts of the AAA. Without these, the farmers would be little disposed to view the New Deal any more favorably than was the case with the agrarian relief efforts of Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. If the AAA is put under judicial ban, Mr. Roosevelt's status in the farm belt will be lowered appreciably.

In so far as the TVA experiment is concerned, the administration also will suffer a severe blow in the event of a court upset. This "yardstick" of utility control is one of the president's pet projects. For it to be thrown into the ash-heap of unconstitutionality would be for authoritative repudiation to be heaped upon what is widely regarded as a fundamental phase of New Deal policy.

Certainly the various issues to be settled are such as to indicate an epochal court session of vital bearing upon the social and economic welfare of millions of American citizens.

That the supreme court enjoys the confidence of the nation is indeed gratifying at a moment when matters of such magnitude are up for judicial settlement.

PAYING RELIEF PROJECT

At least one federal project seems to be paying its own way in fine style.

Early last month a group of white-collar relief clients was put to work investigating federal tax delinquencies. Some 1,600 men were employed, and their labors to date have cost Uncle Sam a little less than $195,000, including office rent; but their investigation has made possible the collection of $918,000 in delinquent taxes. In other words, they brought in approximately five times as much money as was spent on them.

At a time when relief authorities are obliged to spend huge sums on projects of doubtful utility, this is indeed a refreshing note. If only all federal relief projects could prove equally lucrative.

SETTING A PRECEDENT

President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner have set a precedent by being out of the country at the same time, but the cause for alarm is much less than it was when the first president left America's shores.

Theodore Roosevelt was the first chief executive to venture away from the United States while in office, going to Panama during his second term. That was in the days before air travel and radio had reached a high stage of development, and the first Roosevelt found it necessary to have Vice President Fairbanks remain close to the capital. Although the second Roosevelt was in Panama, he was only one day away from Washington by air while his cousin would have required four days to get home by ship.

Because of slow methods of travel, the custom was for the vice president to stay in the country during his superior's absence. William H. Taft made two trips to Panama as president, dined across the border in Mexico with President Porfirio Diaz and spent a few minutes in Cuba, but Vice President Sherman remained at home.

When Woodrow Wilson became the first president to go to Europe, making two trips to the peace conference, Vice President Marshall kept the home fires burning. President Harding, just before his death, went to Alaska, leaving Calvin Coolidge in New England, and Mr. Coolidge in turn attended a Pan-American conference at Havana, leaving Charles G. Dawes behind.

Times have changed now; in fact, they had changed sufficiently by Harding's time to permit quick travel to this country from many points of the world. So President Roosevelt, used to setting precedents, thinks nothing of leaving the country without a resident chief, for he knows that he can get home almost as soon as he's needed.

ANCIENT CULTURE IN THE ARCTIC

Remarkable archaeological discoveries in the Near East, through the activities of University of Pennsylvania expeditions, and in the tombs of the Egyptian kings long have made inhabitants of the modern world thrill to the glories of antiquity. But the recently reported finding of evidence of an ancient culture on the barren frozen Yamal Peninsula, north of the Arctic Circle, in Siberia, stirs the lethargic imagination as even the unearthed wonders of Ur of the Chaldees fail to do.

LARGE CLASS IS EXPECTED

Preparations have been completed by the Valley of New Castle Consistory for their annual fall reunion for the conferring of degrees which opens in the Cathedral Tuesday morning.

Indications point to a large class of candidates than has been the case for several years past, and a good old-fashioned reunion is expected to result, Commander in Chief John E. White stated today.

Degrees will be conferred on the three days of the reunion, which will be concluded by a dinner-dance on Thursday evening for members of the Consistory and their families and bona fide house guests.

Many of the members from distant points are expected to attend during the three-day convocation and renew friendships formed in past years.

From various points in the seven county section they have come together for a final rehearsal of the numbers they will play in their orchestra concert.

The rehearsal today is under the general direction of Joe F. Replogle of the senior high school, and with him the following directors, Miss Sil Kirk Burgess of Grove City, Carroll D. Kearns of Greenville, Lyle Houghs of Midland.

The numbers to be used are from the classics. Mr. Replogle will direct the Tannhauser March by Wagner and the Martha Overture by Smetana. Miss Burgess will direct the Hungarian March 5 and 6 by Brahms. Mr. Kearns will direct the Symphony Militaire by Haydn (second movement), and H. R. Wounds by Grieg. Mr. Houghs will direct Intermezzo L'Arense by Bizet and My Maryland by Romberg.

The joint orchestra will be the musical feature of the mid-western section convention on Friday and Saturday. For it Mr. Replogle has been preparing for several weeks and the rehearsal at the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school will polish off what few rough spots remain.

Labor Relations Board Will Hear Complaints Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—The newly created three man National Labor Relations board, headed by J. Warren Madden of Pittsburgh, today prepared to open hearings on organized labor's complaints against the Greyhound Bus Line, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

The hearing, scheduled for tomorrow, involves the alleged discharge of nine employees because of union affiliation; threats to discharge employees if they join the union, and surveillance over union meetings.

It was indicated counsel for the bus line will charge the Wagner Labor Disputes Act, which created the board, was unconstitutional. If this charge is made, the way may be opened for a test case before the United States Supreme Court.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

Mountain were always prepared for war. They were a rugged lot of humans and they watched the men of the Plain grow richer and richer until they thought the time was ripe, and swooped down and took possession themselves. They, in turn, became careless and indolent in their wealth, and there was another breed of men of the Mountain, repeating history.

This Nation in 1889 was becoming fat and wealthy and Depew said, "Unless this Nation remembers the old-repeated story of the men of the Plain and prepares themselves for a defense of their wealth, they will share the fate of the men of the Plain."

That day has not yet arrived, but more and more does this country become dominated by the Pacificists—the men who love peace so much they will not sacrifice to keep what they have.

Europe is in a ferment. It is only a matter of time until the Dogs of War will be let loose again. We may say we will keep out of it, but let some nation with Power—men of the Mountain, if you will, become so strong they think they can make the earth for a while, and we will share the same fate as has overtaken the men of the Plain from the beginning of history.

Will Not Negotiate
As the emperor emphasized to International News Service, there is not the least chance he will consent to negotiate with Premier Mussolini on the basis of Italian troops remaining in their present positions in Ethiopia.

News that Gen. Emilio de Bono, Italian commander, had proclaimed a protectorate over Tigre and Agame provinces only evoked bitterness here.

Ethiopian authorities reiterated their declaration that Italy never will be permitted to permanently possess these provinces, which they now partially occupy.

All the property of Ras Gussa, northern chieftain who deserted to the Italians, the emperor today gave to Fitouari Nagash, a relative of the traitor.

Fitouari is the title of a full general, compared with Dedjasmach, a major general.

Nagash, a chieftain of Tigre province, won this considerable compensation—the deserter was well off—because the emperor wished to reward faithfulness in a family which is deeply ashamed of the treachery of the man whom the Italians made a Vassal governor of Tigre.

ETHIOPIANS ARE PREPARING FOR BIG OFFENSIVE

The Abyssinians with machine gun fire, without doing a great deal of damage, but as a part of their "moral" campaign against the natives.

Seek Surrender
The Italian purpose is to win their way southward with as little bloodshed as possible, inducing the tribesmen, if possible, to surrender. Italian military leaders are hopeful Ras Seyum will follow the example of Ras Gussa and many other minor chieftains and priests and surrender.

Ras Gussa's 12,000 tribesmen who surrendered with him are now all well armed and are ready, if necessary, to participate in the Italian offensive through Tigre province, of which Ras Gussa has been proclaimed governor.

If the Ethiopians do not surrender, according to the Italians, they run the risk of starving far from their sources of food supply, or of being annihilated by the fire of the mechanized Italian forces.

Italian strategists question that the Ethiopians will attempt to hold Makale, but believe that their aim, if they resist, will be to cut the Italian communications north of that town.

Flyers reported to headquarters that they had bombed an Ethiopian party in the Viru country, on the eastern coastal plain, an encampment southeast of Bircutan, and a munitions dump at Omhager.

What would have happened to Rome, if Hannibal had had airplanes?

YOU MAY see a new kind of "Olympic game" with long distance runners wearing gas masks. In future wars soldiers will wear masks and civilians will wear them. Ability to run in gas masks will be important.

Russia knows that, and "training for the next war" eight men and women of the Osoaviakhim (Society for Aviation and Chemical Defense) marched 31 miles in gas masks in 10 hours 45 minutes, a world record.

WITH A GOOD gas mask you breathe in no poison gas, but it is difficult to breathe ordinary air while wearing the mask. You may hear a future proud mother say "my little Tommy is only two years old and already walks a quarter of a mile with his gas mask on."

RUSSIA DECIDES that five and ten cent divorces are not a good thing, and that family devotion, love of parents for children and vice versa may be valuable.

Moscow papers announce "Comrade Joseph Stalin arrived in Tiflis this morning to visit his mother. After spending the entire day with her he left in the evening for Moscow."

It is a long way to Tiflis, far down in Russian-Georgia. Security of government, increasing wealth have a great effect on theories.

Ten years hence you may read "Our revered Emperor Stalin the First, accompanied by the imperial air escort, started today on a round of visits to the European capitals." A few billions in gold might change "Comrade" to "emperor."

France Adding 100,000 To Army

Garrisons Along Eastern Frontier Are Being Largely Increased

NEW SOLDIERS ARE MOSTLY 'WAR BABIES'

By MICHAEL WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 21.—More than 100,000 "war babies" today and tomorrow are being added to the great French conscript army, swelling the garrisons along the eastern frontier in implied proof that France still dreads a spread of the Ethiopian war to Europe.

While Premier Pierre Laval, given a "vote of confidence" in yesterday's senatorial elections, continued his meditation between Britain and Italy, the youths born in the last half of 1914—many of whose fathers were killed in the war before their sons ever saw them—flocked to the colors.

The former class, due to be replaced by the new conscripts, will be kept under arms for two or three months longer, it was learned, during the present crisis over the presence of British fleet reinforcements in the Mediterranean and Italian troops on the Egypto-Libian frontier.

The overlap accounts for more than 200,000 young soldiers, half of whom are already well-trained.

Paris, Oct. 21.—With internal political upheaval apparently stalled off, Premier Pierre Laval today was in a stronger position to carry on Anglo-Italian-Ethiopian peace efforts by virtue of his double victory in yesterday's senatorial elections, taken as endorsement of Laval's stand on anti-Italian sanctions.

Laval was elected, for a nine-year term, to the senate from both the Puy-de-Dome and Seine districts. He will probably be seated for the first, his native district.

Although the election, in which one-third the senators were chosen, has a slight tendency towards the left, it was believed that Laval's government is in no immediate danger.

Why the West Washington Street Bridge Was Changed

The bridge was condemned. As the trusses would not support a full width street it was decided to narrow each sidewalk two feet and make one traffic lane along each truss. This was done to enable the people and business interests of the Sixth Ward and Union Township to have direct access to other parts of the city instead of detouring by way of Grant street bridge. Also to keep the bridge open until the War Department could be persuaded to lower their 27 ft. clearance, which would make a new bridge floor above the Erie R. R. track. The state law requires 22 ft. clearance above top of rail, making necessary a viaduct approach starting near Beaver street, causing heavy property damage and costing approximately $500,000. If the 27 ft. clearance is lowered, a new bridge can be built on the present site at less cost.

Curfew Sounds Tonight Up In New Wilmington

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 21.—Curfew shall ring tonight in New Wilmington, even if the old rusty Westminster college whistle on the Chemistry building has to be tooted. By an old arrangement, years ago, the New Wilmington telephone company pushed a button that blew the borough siren at 1:50 a month. Curfew was finally abandoned for several years, only to be recently revived, to keep youngsters under 16 off the streets after 8:30 at night. However, the old 1:50 a month rate of by-gone days was jumped to $45 a month for the tooting, and the town burgess was in a dilemma. The curfew must blow, but the town couldn't afford to pay the telephone company $45 a month to push a button once each day.

Westminster college came to the aid of the baffled burgess, however, and offered to blow the rusty old whistle on the Chemistry building free of charge. The college had installed the whistle several years ago when Old Main burned and classes were scattered over town, to announce the beginning and closing of class-periods. Later the whistle blew at seven each morning until the tower chimed were installed. For the past three years, the whistle hasn't cheeped, and has grown rustier each day.

But once again, the whistle will toot at 8:30 every night to warn youngsters to stop their play and scamper home, and the burgess of New Wilmington can rest easily in his library chair.

The May-Stern Company has issued an action in replevin against Sam Campoli and Mary Campoli, to secure possession of furniture valued at $900, which was brought on the installment plan, and on which there are arrearages.

The General Tire Service Company has issued a writ in attachment against Pitzer Bros. and Albert Pitzer, in which the sheriff is directed to attach any money that may be due the defendants from the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company in satisfaction of a bill for $349.

Some idea of the loss which Lawrence county is sustaining by reason of the new marriage law, can be had from the records so far this month. From the first of October to the 19th last year there were 109 marriage licenses issued. For the same period this year, but 39, or a loss of 70, amounting to $140.

The Shenango Refrigeration Company has issued a writ of replevin against John Contas, to secure possession of a washing machine. A similar writ has been issued against J. Birt.

The Lawrence Savings and Trust Company has issued an action in ejectment against Mrs. Anna M. McClimans to secure possession of a property on Cunningham avenue, fourth ward. The property was sold on an article of agreement and it is alleged the payments have not been kept up.

Registration bureau clerk, Thomas Edmunds, announces that the printed street lists were received Saturday from the Globe Printing Company of New Wilmington. They are nicely arranged by precincts in little booklets. The names of voters, as well as their politics is given.

An appeal from the decision of Alderman L. C. Mantz has been filed by the plaintiff in the case of E. A. McConehy against Nicholas Frasso, and thereby hangs a tale. It dates back to September, 1934, when Nicholas Frasso took Jack Crowl and Stanley Whieldon for a ride to the Stoneboro fair in a second hand automobile. Frasso had been told that a good deal can sometimes be made at a county fair. He took Crowl and Whieldon along as guides.

A deal was consummated whereby Frasso traded his automobile for a race horse and a little cash. The horse was brought to New Castle and entered in the races at the New Castle fair. Whether it won any money is not a part of this story. After the fair the horse was turned out to pasture and had a real nice time, until cold weather set in.

Frasso then began to look around for somebody to care for the horse during the winter. He was told that E. A. McConehy, who was employed at the radiator works, was a great lover of horses and would be an ideal man to look after the animal. Frasso went to see McConehy who agreed to look after the horse as well as though it were his very own. He took it to the hay and feed any anything else the horse needed down to chewing gum. McConehy took good care of the horse, and is said to have talked about buying it, but changed his mind.

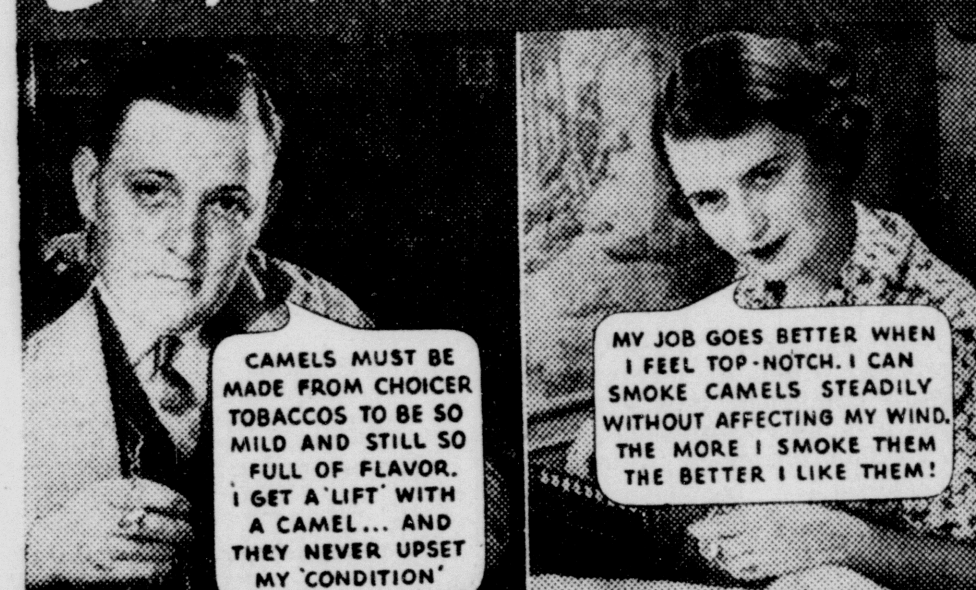

Frasso, in the meantime, decided to dispose of the horse, and through negotiations engineered by Stanley Whieldon, Joseph Rick became the owner, giving $35 in good coin of the realm and some automobile parts for it. Rick dealt the horse to Jack Crowl, the details of the deal being strictly in conformity with the lamented NRA code and therefore secret. Of course Crowl, who is known as one of the best salesmen in Lawrence county, didn't have the horse long. He took it to Pittsburgh where he found a man who was interested in race horses and who was willing to back his judgment on horseflesh with money, and so Jack came back with the Jack.

This is all that is known about the horse, but now for the aftermath. McConehy sends Frasso a bill for $277 for looking after the horse. Frasso is amazed. He doesn't remit, and this was where Alderman Mantz entered the picture. McConehy filed a suit against Frasso. At the hearing the story of the horse was told. Frasso claimed that he thought McConehy had looked after the horse for him because he liked horses, much the same as a man likes a dog. McConehy admitted that he likes horses, but said he had never agreed to look after the horse for nothing. There was considerable testimony, but apparently no real evidence of a contract. In the absence of definite proofs all the alderman could do was to rely on his horse sense. He did this by giving judgment for the defendant and against the plaintiff. The plaintiff don't like this and so has taken an appeal which will enable him to find out how the horse sense of a jury compares with that of Alderman Mantz.

Aids Are Named For Red Cross Roll Call Here

Heads Of Important City Committees Announced By Chairman Dingley

CAMPAIGN OPENS ON ARMISTICE DAY

Chairman Paul G. Dingley, who will head the Red Cross Roll Call campaign in the city, today announced the appointment of two important committee heads.

Mrs. David H. Kay will be chairman of the home mass committee, which will have charge of the solicitation of the residential district, while Paul F. Butz, chapter chairman, will be chairman of the special gifts and business district solicitation.

The Roll Call campaign opens on Monday, November 11, and lasts until Thanksgiving Day, November 29. It is expected that the budget of the local chapter will be raised through the Roll Call effort, which will include both the city and county this year, due to the fact that there is no Community Chest, to which the Red Cross chapter has belonged in the past.

AROUND CITY HALL

As yet city officials have not determined who took the brick which they alleged had been stolen from the west end of Gardner avenue, vacated by the city when the Mahoning avenue viaduct was built. About 25,000 bricks were stolen. The city would have used the brick to build catch-basins.

Route of the liquor state store bandits to Ohio shows that most of the thugs who stage robberies or murders have usually taken the road leading through Mt. Jackson to escape. The last trace of the bandits' car was found at Bessemer.

Councilmanic proceedings during the past several months have been rather short. During the past several years only two open meetings each week has been the rule. Within a short time No. 3 cruiser will be equipped with equipment which will permit them to converse with the police radio operator at the police station. The cost will be paid out of the money raised by holding boxing bouts. The police have benefitted with new equipment through that channel, which has resulted in a saving to taxpayers and more efficient weapons with which to fight crime.

Street signs in different sections of the city certainly do not present a good appearance. The poor quality of the paint, it is said, is responsible for the situation.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must get at the cause—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the intestines, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Will Teach High School Students How To Drive Cars

State College High School Establishes Course In Interest Of Safety

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 21.—In search of highway safety, a non-credit course in driving the automobile has been approved in the State College high school. Superintendent of Schools Jo Hays announced today. It will be given to all high school students who satisfy state requirements and obtain a learner's permit. The Parent-Teachers association, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs are co-operating to provide equipment and funds for the course. Instruction will be given by Professor Amos E. Neyhart of the Pennsylvania State college.

Professor Neyhart is also experimenting with means to detect individuals who are unable to judge the speed of oncoming cars in relation to other traffic. The investigation was started at the request of the Pennsylvania highway patrol where it is suggested that lack of depth perception is a contributing factor in automobile collisions.

Lawrence County Farmers Receive Slight Benefit

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent.
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 21.—Lawrence county farmers continue to receive but slight benefit from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's crop control programs.

In reviewing Federal benefit payments to cooperating farmers during July, the AAA today revealed that not one cent had gone to Lawrence county farmers. Pennsylvania farmers as a group got only $106,919. Farmers of the nation as a whole, on the other hand, received $26,378,361.

Butler and Beaver county farmers, like those of Lawrence county, were not among those receiving benefits. Mercer county growers received $513.05 for curtailing corn-hog production.

MERCER LICENSE APPLICATIONS

SHOW INCREASE

MERCER, Oct. 21.—A check-up on the number of marriage licenses granted in Mercer county during the first 15 days under the new law, requiring that three days' notice of intentions to marry be given, shows a big decrease in the number applying.

Before the new law became effective many from Ohio, where they have a five-day notice law, crossed the line and secured their licenses and were married in the county. This trade has almost disappeared.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF JANITOR GOES ON TRIAL

Trial To Open At Smethport

Fatal Battle Took Place In Laboratory At Kane High School

POLICE REPORT YOUTH CONFESSES

(International News Service) SMETHPORT, Pa., Oct. 21.—Nathaniel Molson, 17-year-old Negro CCC worker, indicted for the fatal stabbing of William Campbell, Kane high school night janitor, today was to go on trial for his life here.

His face seared with acid when found by authorities, Molson was quoted as telling police he had entered the school building armed with a knife and unloaded gun to steal football receipts. Encountered by Campbell, Molson struggled with the janitor and in the purported fight Campbell was fatally stabbed.

Battle In School. According to Molson, the battle took place in the school laboratory, where he forced the janitor to pour a quantity of nitric acid into another small bottle. The janitor, according to the youth's confession, threw the acid into his face.

Blinded by the acid and suffocated by the fumes, Molson was said to have attacked Campbell and stabbed him several times during the struggle.

His reported confession, as released by authorities, read: "He (Campbell) was choking me. Just as things started to get black, I stabbed him. Then everything blurred. I don't know what happened after that."

The state was expected to demand the death penalty for the youth, who was found hiding in his home the day after Campbell's lifeless body was discovered in the school building.

City Library Guide Helps Point Way To Good Books

If a book agent claims that a book or set contains certain material—that it is complete and accurate—that it is up-to-date—that it is compiled by experts—one's natural inclination is to verify his statements before buying. But where can one turn? To the Subscription Books Bulletin which evaluates encyclopedias, books, and sets sold by canvassing agents.

Books and sets are not all of equal merit. Some are better than others, show more care and more scholarship, are better assembled and arranged, better mannered and illustrated, in general more useful.

It is to separate the wheat from the chaff and to protect libraries, schools and homes from wasting public and private funds that the American Library association issues the Subscription Books Bulletin.

It is prepared by a voluntary committee of the association which gathers all the facts it can regarding subscription books. Sets are examined, compared with other sets of similar content, checked for accuracy and reliability and reviewed outspokenly.

About 15 or 20 books and sets are written up in each issue, January, April, July and October.

The Subscription Books Bulletin may be examined at the free public library.

"Low-cost automobile motors may make 'flivver' airplanes possible..."

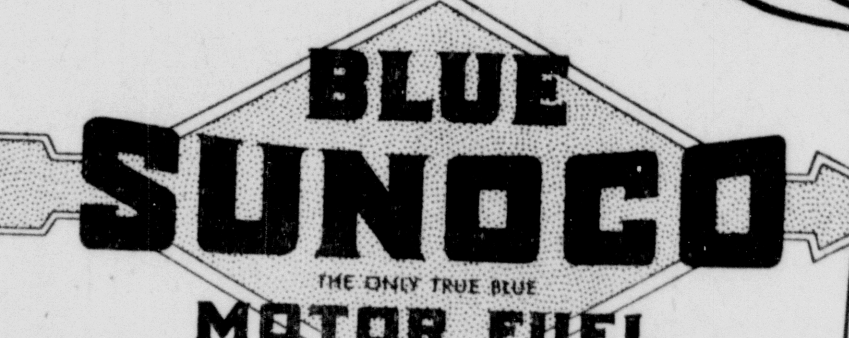

Motor tested by Casey Jones ran cooler on Blue Sunoco than on extra-priced motor fuel — yet delivered as much power as with high priced aviation gas

"delivered just as much power as high-priced aviation gas"

"... it ran just as cool ..."

"... there were no deposits of any kind in the motor ..."

HIGH POWERED, KNOCKLESS ACTION . . . AT REGULAR GAS PRICE

Lowell Thomas Broadcasts Interview with Casey Jones

THOMAS—"Casey Jones, the sky-hardened veteran, is now running the Casey Jones School of Aeronautics at Newark, N. J., where he has experimental facilities. So the Department of Commerce engaged Casey to do some experimenting. Right, Casey?"

JONES—"Yes, that's right, Lowell."

THOMAS—"Casey has been telling me that he took a common fast automobile motor and geared it to turn a propeller at the right speed. And they ran the engine for 300 hours straight—60 hours wide open and the rest of the time at 90% throttle and it stood up—did the trick perfectly."

JONES—"And don't forget the fuel problem, Lowell. We ran the motor on high-priced aviation gasoline. It worked out first rate, power and cooling."

THOMAS—"That was O. K., but what about an ordinary automobile gas?"

JONES—"We tried a premium price automobile fuel, but it did not run out so well, because the motor became too hot, after running a few hours. But the experiment turned into a success when we tried it with Blue Sunoco. 200 hours on Blue Sunoco and it delivered just as much power as a high-priced aviation gas. It ran just as cool and at the end of the test there were no deposits of any kind in the motor."

THOMAS—"The same Blue Sunoco the fellow at the pump pours into your tank?"

JONES—"Yes, Lowell, the main idea is—to put the popular price in aviation, and it certainly helps when you find you can use a gas that is another step toward that low price, cheaply operated plane that the Department of Commerce wants to develop for John Q. Public. We haven't got it yet... but we're on our way."

*Blue Sunoco was obtained at the Frelinghuysen and Meeker Avenues Filling Station, Newark, N. J.

Urge Access To To All Resources

Secretary Of State Hull Promotes Theory Which Would Bring Peace

BRITON ALSO HAS SAME IDEA

Central Press Washington Bureau 1900 S street By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull recently made a suggestion of which not much notice has been taken thus far. It embodied a good peace idea. Perhaps it is significant that Sir Samuel Hoare, as England's spokesman, made the same suggestion almost simultaneously with Secretary Hull's. The impression naturally is that the two have been consulting together, though it isn't officially so stated. The suggestion was that the nations which have a plethora of resources should give reasonable access to them to countries which suffer from an insufficiency.

"STARVING NATIONS" The United States has such a redundancy that, paradoxically, it causes depressions. England and France, counting their overseas possessions, also have an overplus. Russia, too, lately has vast more than it needs, awaiting development. Belgium and Holland, small and thickly populated, manage to remain tolerably prosperous, but they likewise have resource-yielding colonies. The Italians, the Japanese, and since the World war, the Germans, simply haven't enough to live on.

Secretary Hull and Sir Samuel Hoare take it to axiomatic that peoples bottled up in this fashion will be everlastingly dangerous—with everything to gain and nothing to lose by trying to grab what they so urgently require. WHAT IN RETURN? Just what the bottled-up folk are to give, in return for supplies from the more opulent powers, isn't immediately apparent. Service, maybe; workmanship; processing. Of course, in the United States, a hint that foreign workers be given a chance to supply the American market immediately meets with violent objection from Yankee industrialism. Nevertheless, Yankee industrialism seemingly is overdone. Wouldn't it, possibly, be better for Americans to get back into the production of raw materials?—leaving it to denser populations, with no raw materials of their own, to do more of the processing?—instead of killing immature pigs, refraining from planing wheat and plowing cotton under? Secretary Hull obviously asks these questions—with a strongly implied hint in the affirmative. IS THIS THE POLICY? The whole thing harks back to the old issue—Laissez faire; let nature take its course. If this country essentially is a country of raw materials, let it stick to raw materials, abandoning processing to naturally-constituted processors—and trading with them; raw materials for processed stuff, on a fair basis. (This isn't to be accepted 100 per cent, to be sure, but as a general policy.)

MAKE FOR LESS FRICTION? It is to be taken into account that Sir Samuel Hoare preaches laissez faire much more convincingly to Britons than Secretary Hull can preach it to Americans. Sir Samuel proposes that America as a raw material country, give up processing. England is a processing realm, but Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa are raw material areas. Thus, according to his plan, the British Empire is scheduled to produce raw materials and likewise do the processing. All the same, the notion is logical—Let each country produce what it can produce best and swap with the others. It would make for less friction, obviously.

Extend Field For Investment

New Law Brings Pennsylvania To Forefront In Law Governing Trust Funds

Separate issues of bonds totalling 276 and aggregating nearly three and one-half billion dollars par value, issued by railroads, gas, water, electric and telephone companies are listed in "Trust Investments in Pennsylvania", copies of which are being distributed to banks and trust companies in Pennsylvania and others interested in the recent amendment to the Fiduciaries Act of Pennsylvania. Frank G. Sayre, vice president of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities of Philadelphia, and chairman of the committee on trust investments of the Pennsylvania Bankers association, pointed out that Pennsylvania now stands in the forefront of all states in the Union in its law governing the investment of trust funds. "This achievement," states Mr. Sayre, "has been made possible by a long process of education and effort upon the part of trust executives and is an outstanding example of cooperation which proves that important and worth while results may be achieved by enthusiastic teamwork."

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

STORE SURPLUS GARDEN CROPS FOR WINTER USE

Extending the season of fresh vegetables from the garden is possible when the surplus is carefully stored for winter use.

A good product and uniform moisture and temperature conditions are necessary for successful storage. Ventilation is needed, especially for leafy crops, to remove excess carbon dioxide. Ventilation also may be used at night to lower the storage temperature. On warm days the ventilators are kept tightly closed to prevent the intake of warm air.

One of the most convenient places to store vegetables is the house cellar. One room of the cellar should have dirt floor for root crops and leafy vegetables. It should be insulated from the furnace room with a solid board partition and tightly fitting door. A good-sized window for ventilation or quick removal of warm air is essential.

A large barrel or heavy box, placed in the side of a bank, makes a convenient place to store root crops and cabbage for the home. The barrel head is used as a door and the entire pit is covered with straw or leaves. To this is added a light layer of soil. As winter approaches, additional layers give the needed protection.

Onions must be kept dry and cool for successful storage. Crates and baskets are handy containers, but shallow trays are better.

Tomatoes may be spread out on paper in a cool, moderately moist room to ripen. Eggplants and peppers are handled in much the same way, but are some times left attached to the plants.

Pumpkin, squash and sweet potatoes should be stored at the first sign of frost and stored where it is moderately cool and dry. Shelves are better for pumpkins and squash, while sweet potatoes may be packed carefully in crates or baskets.

Leafy crops and root vegetables in cooler weather and should be kept in the garden as late as possible without injury.

be made for our fall and winter ones, says Miss Mary Vogle, home economics worker.

Large hooks and eyes of metal or brilliant are not new, but are becoming very popular. Gold or silver keys in place of buttons were seen on a wool dress, with a lock for the belt fastening. Nuts for buttons are sold in some of the stores.

Imitations of gold and silver coins are also being used now for buttons.

Cork, glass, leather, wood, pearl and composition are other materials being used quite commonly for interesting fastenings.

Slide fasteners or zippers, which make convenient closings, are now being made in color and may contrast with the dress—such as green on brown, or red on black. One suit had four red slide fasteners to match the red buttons.

It has been years since silk braid has been used for trimmings, but this year it is used a great deal—on narrow soutache to wide. It is used for the old fashioned loop and frog fastenings. Here again, Miss Vogle reminds, is the use of a contrasting color—such as brown on green wool—a favorite color combination, by the way, for this fall.

Arctic Explorer Dies In 91st Year, Heart Ailment Proves Fatal

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Major Gen. Adolphus W. Greely, 91 year old Arctic hero of another century is dead today after battling for two weeks against impossible odds at the Walter Reed hospital.

Stricken with a heart ailment and a gangrenous condition of the leg, the hardy explorer outlived doctors' predictions by ten days. To the last the aged man displayed the same hardness that kept him alive from 1881 to 1884 when he and his band were lost in the Arctic wastes. Leaving here with 25 men in 1881, Greely returned to civilization three years later with only six left.

Although he penetrated farther north of any man until his time, the pioneer had to wait 50 years for recognition. It was not until last spring that congress voted him the congressional medal of honor.

To The People of New Castle and The 'Electric Consumers League'

We have noted the following advertisement, headlined as a "Challenge" and signed by the "Electrical Consumers League", which appeared in The News on Saturday, October 19th:

"We challenge the Pennsylvania Power Co., the real source of all the propaganda against a municipal distribution system, to a public debate, to be held Thursday night, October 24, in any suitable meeting place selected by them, and they to bring any speaker from anywhere in the U. S."

The only so-called "propaganda" on the bond issue question which the Pennsylvania Power Company has issued, which it intends to issue, or for which it is in any way responsible, is our "Questions and Answers" leaflet, and advertisements appearing over our own name.

As stated in our advertisement of October 8th:

"The question is one which the voters of New Castle alone are to decide, and we who are interested parties will endeavor to confine our participation in the controversy to the furnishing of such factual information as any individual citizen or group of citizens may desire."

We are glad to furnish the "Electric Consumers League", the "Taxpayers Executive Committee", the "Non-Property Owners Protective Association", any other group of citizens, or any individual citizen any facts we may have which would be helpful to them in considering or discussing the question, but other than this we cannot participate in the matter for the reasons stated in our advertisement of October 8th.

The question is one which an oral debate or argument would only becloud, rather than clarify. It is one that should be weighed on the basis of mathematical facts recorded on paper and capable of study and verification, rather than on the basis of how clever a debating orator representing one side or the other might prove himself to be. The issue is one of fact, and not of emotion, prejudice, or oratory.

In this connection we believe it only fair to state that the Pennsylvania Power Company occupies the unusual position of being on trial, and before opportunity is given to present its case before the legally authorized tribunal, the Public Service Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the case is suddenly thrown into an election in which the people are asked to vote 1,500,000 dollars in bonds for a municipal plant, without any facts to justify the need.

In the fall of 1934 the City filed a complaint on electric rates before the Public Service Commission.

After engineers for the City, the Commission, and the Company had completed an inventory and appraisal, the Commission set April 24, 1935 as the date for the hearing. On that date our company appeared before the Commission fully prepared to present its case, as did the legal and engineering representatives of the City.

The City presented its case, and before the Company had an opportunity to present its evidence, the City asked for a continuance, which the Commission granted,—that is the status of the case at the present time.

With the case still pending, the representatives of the City returned, and with the assistance of the "Electric Consumers League" placed the question of a bond issue for municipal plant before the people to vote on.

From this chain of circumstance it is clear that the objective of officials interested and the objective of the interested sponsors of the "Electrical Consumers League" is to induce the people of New Castle to go into the electricity business irrespective of rates and irrespective of the economics of the proposition.

This being the status of the matter it becomes a question for the voters of New Castle to decide and one in which we feel that we, an interested party, should not participate except to the extent stated in our advertisement of October 8th.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—Pittsburgh's gridiron Pirates today held a 17-13 upset victory over the Chicago Cardinals after a game that ended in near-riot with the Cardinals on the one-yard line.

Cy Casper, Pirate back, was felled during the clash which climaxed a bitterly-fought game that saw vicious tackling and one personal flare-up and halted the Cardinals' four-game winning streak.

Danon Wetzel, Pittsburgh reserve fullback, was banished from the game after he punched field, Cardinal tackle, in the incidents which pointed to the angry finale.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—As they would put it in wrestling vernacular, Altoona Hi practically clamped a stranglehold on the Western Central Pennsylvania football conference crown when it walloped Lock Haven, 19-0, Saturday.

The latter was the most serious pretender to the throne to which the Mountain Lions seek to succeed themselves, and led the circuit by having played and won more contests than Altoona until its path crossed that of the champions.

The score is not the only fact alluding to the ferocity of the crucial battle between the Wildcats of Monongahela Hi and Brownsville—A Brownsville player reportedly kicked one of his opponents in the heat of it all and Monongahela was given the ball on the Vikings' 20-yard line, ultimately winning 7-0 for an advantage in the dual chase for "Big Six" and Class AA honors.

There is a young lass swimming around the pools of Erie that may make aquatic fans forget about Lenore Knight, the former Homestead Library distance champion who dropped out of notice since her elopement.

The reference is to Miss Shirley Butler, 16-year-old strong Vincent high school star. Shirley is churning through the water at fast clockings and there is some consideration of entering her in the 1936 Olympic trials.

Alabama Pitts will be leaving the game that carried him into the public eye in quitting the Philadelphia Eagles pro football team over salary matters to organize a touring basketball quintet. . . Pitts is equally able as a cage and baseball star but his gridiron feats as a Sing-Sing inmate and that alone is what earned him his publicity.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Pittsburgh Pirates came to life yesterday and joined the Chicago Bears, 17 to 13, at Pittsburgh. Chicago yard line when the final whistle blew. The reserves of the Bears rushed on the field and Left Half-back Casper of the Pirates was nailed by some Bear on the chin and he was downed. For a brief time it appeared as though there would be a free-for-all but such did not take place.

Frank Patrick, fullback of Pitt, holds the individual high point record for eastern players, having added a touchdown to his points Saturday at Notre Dame. He has scored 47 points. Stanley of Williams has scored 42 and Jaeger of Colgate has amassed 36 points.

Villanova and Army remain the only undefeated, un-scored on and un-tied teams in the eastern football field. Villanova has five victories and 137 points against none for the opposition. Army has won three games, scored 81 points and has a clean debit side.

Clear Creek Sable, owned by P. B. Weissinger, Louisville, won the All Age dog in the field trials held by the Highland Beagle club at Greenfield, O. Shantunk Bee Bee, owned by Fred Crain, Monticello, O., was second in the event for All Age matrons.

Refuses Apology From "Diz" Dean

(International News Service) CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 21.—As far as Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association, is concerned, Dizy Dean is "through."

Engel snubbed the St. Louis Cardinals' star's apology and offer to appear in a charity game here following his walkout on 375 fans assembled for a Christmas toy fund charity game here last week.

Engel protested to Commissioner K. M. Landis after Dean looked over the crowd, remarked, "Hell, I can make more money playing poker on the train," and walked out of the park.

Execution Stay Refused By Court

John D. Rung Unable To Refinance Bank Loans On Property At Lakewood

Testimony was taken before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning on a petition to stay a writ of execution against John Rung and Hermine Rung, owners of Lakewood summer resort in Hickory township. Mr. Rung testified that he had made diligent efforts to refinance his obligations to the New Wilmington bank, but so far had been unable to do so. He stated that he has some prospects of refinancing but nothing definite.

Receiver Wilson of the New Wilmington bank stated that Rung's indebtedness to the bank included three mortgages, totaling $12,000, and notes amounting to about $14,000. Interest is back on the mortgages, and there are also back taxes from 1931. He said that he had appraisers fix a value on the property and that they had placed it at $5000. An extension of time was granted Rung some time ago but he had been unable to raise any money. After hearing the testimony Judge Hildebrand discharged the writ, which means that the sheriff will proceed with the execution.

ELLWOOD HIGH DOWNS MONACA HIGH 21-0

Straight Football Used As Young, Funari, Biego Score For Ellwood

MOTHERS HONORED AT GAME SATURDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 21.—Coach "Denny" Schill's Ellwood City high gridders won their fifth game of the season with a 21-0 victory over Monaca high school here Saturday afternoon in a Mothers' Day game before a good crowd.

Mothers of the local gridders were guests of honor at this time. They marched in a body to a reserved section behind the players' bench.

The students were given some real competition in cheering. As predicted, Coach Berkman's proteges were primed for the blue and white and put up a stubborn resistance. The locals used only straight football and a few passes to gain victory. Monaca with a veteran team was a good test for the Ellwood Wolverines.

Second Quarter Attack. It took the locals a whole quarter to get organized and warmed up. Neither team was able to register a first down in the initial period. A strong wind enabled Monaca to keep the ball in Ellwood's territory.

GAME'S STATISTICS

Yards gained thru scrimmage—Ellwood 195, Monaca 53.

First downs—Ellwood 9, Monaca 2.

Forward passes—Ellwood 2 out of 8, Monaca 4 out of 7.

Yards gained by passing—Ellwood 2 for 30 yards, Monaca 4 for 24 yards.

Total yards gained—Ellwood 225, Monaca 77.

Punts—Ellwood 11 for 453 yards, Monaca 15 for 564 yards.

Average punts—Ellwood 41 yards, Monaca 37 yards.

Penalties—Ellwood 10 for 100 yards, Monaca 7 for 80 yards.

The game was marred by excessive penalties on both teams. The blue and white took control of the situation in the ensuing period and practically had the visitors back on their haunches throughout the period. Late in the period the locals unleashed an attack that saw them gaining consistently. The ball was soon in the enemy territory. Bill Young then faked back and heaved a beautiful 15-yard pass to Hughes. He was roughed upon being tackled on Monaca 15 at this point. This placed the pigskin on the one-yard line from where Young crashed thru right guard for the touchdown on the first play. Captain Kraynak's placement kick for extra point was good but both teams were offside. He had to kick again but this time missed. Little occurred of any consequence for the remainder of the period.

Safety and Touchdown. At the resumption of rivalries in the third quarter the locals had the invaders in coffin corner after an exchange of punts. Biego attempted to punt from behind his own goal line. Captain Kraynak blocked it and Scopellite fell on it for a safety in the end zone. Not long after, the Wolverines on a sustained attack were again in scoring position. On fourth down the locals went into their spread formation and Funari raced 20 yards for a touchdown on a reverse play, behind some fine blocking. Funari did a fine piece of the placement kick for extra point was blocked. Shortly after, Coach Schill sent in a flock of substitutes.

Biego Intercepts Pass. A second string backfield and a third string line proved a fine combination for the blue and white. Biego, the fullback, and the vicious playing of the line held the lime-light. The line was out to make good and when they tackled and charged there was no fooling. On the first three plays the Monaca backs were thrown for losses in no uncertain manner. Then Martincheck faded back to pass and attempted to heave one to Bentel. Biego stepped in, intercepted on the 45 and raced unmoistened to the goal line. Bognosky made the extra point from placement, making the final score 21-0. There was only time for a kick-off and two plays when the game ended.

Scopellite Plays Hard. The locals were not up to par in this game. The line work was a little ragged, but once they settled down to work there were immediate results. The backfield was not up to snuff. There were fumbles in scrimmage, fumbling of punts and the interference was a little slow in forming. But all rallied at the proper time to push across three touchdowns. Probably the outstanding performance of the day was turned in by Tony Scopellite, regular fullback. He led the interference Saturday and it was seldom that his man was on his feet. His blocking gladdened the hearts of old timers.

Funari, Young and Bognosky were the chief ground runners. Flanagan, Miller, Pishonieri and Captain Kraynak were best in the line. For Monaca, Martincheck and Bentel starred in the backfield. Nichol, Verban and P. Elmer were outstanding in the line.

Midland Here Saturday. The remaining four games on Ellwood's schedule are tough and will tax the locals to the utmost to win Coach "Rusty" Lomond's strong Midland high team will invade Ellwood City next Saturday. They started slow but developed into a powerful aggregation as the season progressed. Then in order the locals will meet Aliquippa here, New Brighton and Rochester away.

The services throughout the day were largely attended with many coming from a distance.

This church is one of the oldest in this district and a striking feature of the afternoon services was the giving of seats of honor on the platform to the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. Adam McQuiston, Mr. and Mrs. Sampson Deemer, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Rugh, Mrs. Alice Yahn, Amos Koach, Mr. and Mrs. William Glasser of this vicinity, and Mr. and Mrs. Damar Swick of New Castle, who had attended this church fifty years ago. An ad inserted under the "Personal" heading differs from other classifications much the same as a person-to-person telephone call differs from a station-to-station connection.

Business and professional men who have some special message for clients often make use of this column. The ad inserted by a prospective traveler who desires a companion to share expenses to some given point is familiar to everyone. People desiring to get in touch with missing friends and relatives also make use of this classification.

Report Battalion Of Italians Cut Off

Six Hundred Said To Be In Isolated Group In Burning Desert

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) LONDON, Oct. 21.—A "lost battalion" of Italians, cut off from the main force in the blazing Danakil desert, today faces death from thirst and starvation if not from the spears and knives of the Abyssinian tribesmen. Reuters reported from Dessye, Ethiopia.

Six hundred Italians are in the isolated group, drawn up in a square on the sand, the guns of two tanks pointed out over the sands. They are 15 miles from the border of French Somaliland. The rest of the Italian force in that sector, their lines of communication threatened by the Ethiopians, are understood to have withdrawn safely into Eritrea.

Danakil tribesmen, according to Reuters, claim to have killed more than 200 Italians during irregular warfare in that sector.

Sisterhood Affair Is Marked Success

Gathering in the attractively arranged dining room of the Tifereth Israel synagogue, South Jefferson street, Sunday evening, approximately 200 persons enjoyed the first social affair of the year given by the Tifereth Israel Sisterhood. The occasion was a marked success.

Rabbi P. Katz opened the event with an appropriate address. Rabbi Cecil Shenson also spoke. Maurice Samuels, president of the congregation, who was toastmaster, enacted his role capably. A musical program was one of the features. Vocal selections rendered by Miss Pearl Sheer, with Mrs. M. Slaven at the piano, pleased the audience as did piano solos by Miss Lillian Rosenberg and Miss Ravena Wolfe.

Miss Estelle Waldman presented several piano numbers which scored a decided hit. Mrs. Maurice Slaven offered a vocal selection, playing her own accompaniment. The presentation met with the approval of the large crowd.

During the course of the evening, delicious refreshments were served. The tables were beautifully decorated with autumn flowers. Out of town guests present: Mr. and Mrs. A. Buntman of Parkers Landing, William Meyers of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Feldman and family of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. M. Farman and family of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. H. Wolfe of Bessemer.

Efforts of the following committee were responsible for the success of the occasion: Mrs. S. Wolfe, chairman; Mrs. H. Pitnoff, vice chairman; Mrs. H. Solomon, Mrs. William I. Markowitz, Mrs. J. Rosen, Mrs. S. Ginsburg, Mrs. E. Swirsky, Mrs. J. Moresky, Mrs. Rogovin, Mrs. P. Alpern, Mrs. A. Katz, Mrs. H. Rosenberg, Mrs. J. Cobb, Mrs. J. Aronson, Mrs. H. Waldman and Mrs. M. Slaven.

Country Home Of Former New York Mayor Is Damaged

Fire Does Serious Damage To English Home Of Jimmy Walker

(International News Service) LONDON, Oct. 21.—Fire today seriously damaged the Dorking country home of James J. Walker, former New York mayor, while he and Mrs. Walker, the former Betty Compton, were motoring near Paris. When the fire broke out Laura La Plante, American film star who had been renting the home this summer, was in bed, ill.

A neighbor, Dr. C. E. Beare, who was in the house at the time attending Miss La Plante, carried her to safety. Soon afterward the roof fell in.

All of the household staff escaped injury, but much of the furniture and furnishings was totally destroyed.

Reiterate Charge Poison Gas Used

(International News Service) LONDON, Oct. 21.—Reiterating the charge Italians are using poison gas and dum dum and explosive bullets "not only on Ethiopian troops but on women and children and animals," the Ethiopian legation today declared in an official statement: "We warn the Italians that if they continue to use such ghastly measures it will not be possible to restrain the wilder and more bereaved section of the Ethiopian army retaliating in a similar savage method on Italian prisoners."
